What was your key learning from the day specific to agency collaboration?

- Feedback on key learning ranged from learning about new agencies, model of collective impact and collaboration, funding models, funding criteria to Provincial direction moving forward re: non-profits
- Respondents recognized the importance of getting to know more about the service providers in the area and how they can work together to strengthen services in the community
- Respondents were interested in learning more about DC MOVES and its objectives

If you could change one thing about the day what would it be?

- Respondents in this area were collectively interested in more time to network and to learn more about local and new agencies

Please provide any other comments or suggestions regarding the formation of DC MOVES.

- Respondents in this area were interested in the DC MOVES website and next steps for the development
- There was a desire for more data sharing
- Respondents also wanted clarity on actions, next steps and how DC MOVES would move forward
- One respondent felt their organization regularly collaborates, and will continue to do so, but felt their organization did not represent a social service organization
- One respondent stressed the importance of placing a “face” to the DC MOVES initiative political or otherwise. The need for a “champion”
